there are those such as scientists who see only the outside of reality its appearance its surface its phenomenal aspect they are blind to the inside the substance the foundation the noumenal aspect they dismiss it as non existent or illusion or epiphenomenon scientists are those that believe that phenomena have no underlying noumena what you see is what you get seeing is believing everything is appearance nothing is concealed there are no hidden variables and no unobservables the scientific method says observe that works only if everything is observable if there are foundational unobservables science is catastrophically wrong and has cut itself off from the truth the only truth it can furnish is that of surfaces and appearances with no substance those who truly want to understand reality must become masters of both perspectives inside and outside noumenon and phenomenon and see how they relate communicate and interact this book presents philosophy as a historical series of answers to two questions the meaning question what does it all mean and the reality question what is real rather than illusory presenting philosophy as a historical series of answers to these two questions gives a new view of philosophy it reveals a coherence between the disparate problems of philosophy which is not apparent when philosophy is approached in a systematic and timeless manner on the basis of this historical approach the book argues that philosophy was initially concerned primarily with the nature of reality but changed its focus when science was established as a separate discipline in the 17th century philosophy's main concern is now the meaning question with a focus on questions of value as discussed in moral and political philosophy and in aesthetics this book is essential reading for all scholars and researchers in philosophy and especially those interested in the history of philosophy
